SWINDLERS ESCAPED.

Green Goods Men Got Away from a U. S. Marshal.

AT THE ARLINGTON HOTEL

The Marshal was Roughly Handled and Thrown Down the Stairway by the Three Swindlers.

The Arlington Hotel was the scene Wednesday of a lively scrimmage between three alleged green goods men and a United States Marshal. The alleged green goods men arrived at the hotel in the afternoon. Only one of the party registered and gave his name as Rogers. He represented himself as a Pennsylvania Telephone line man. He was assigned to a room where he was later joined by two other men. Rogers left his overcoat and a small hand satchel with the clerk at the desk down stairs. The party had supper at the hotel.

During the afternoon United States Marshal S. M. Weston, of Altoona, arrived at the hotel. He had his supper and at about 8 o'clock went up stairs to his room. Shortly after arriving at his room a lively rumble was heard through the hall way and Weston was thrown down the stairway and with a flourish of revolvers the three green goods men ran down the stairway of the hotel and disappeared. Weston ran out of the hotel after them but was too late to catch any of the men. He was joined shortly afterward by United States Marshals Webster and Alden, who had been waiting for developments. The marshals stayed at the Arlington Hotel all that night and left on the 7:30 east-bound Lehigh Valley passenger train Thursday. They took the overcoat and hand satchel left by Rogers with them.

It is quite evident the three men belonged to a gang of green goods men and were being followed by the United States Marshals, but through some move Weston was compelled to act before the arrival of Webster and Alden and the men escaped.

The Marshal refused to tell how the scrimmage began, but it is believed that he personated a come-on in search of green goods and was outwitted by the trio in trying to effect their arrest.

Strike at Bangor.

Slaters at the quarry of David Howell, at Bangor, went on a strike on Friday morning of last week. They made a demand on Thursday afternoon for an increase of 10 cents per square on Nos. 1 and 2 ribbon slate, which was refused. Friday morning the slaters met at the quarry and learning that their demand had not been granted decided to quit work. The striking slaters claim that owing to the condition of the quarry they have been making less wages than the laborers employed at the same place.

Romeo and Juliet.

One of the notable events of the season will be the Stuvell revival of Shakespeare's beautiful love story, "Romeo and Juliet" at the Opera House, Wednesday, Feb. 11. "Romeo and Juliet" is the immortal story of youth and love. Taking incidents which really happened in Verona, Shakespeare constructed a drama which will last as long as the race endures. Without affectation. Without affectation, without artificiality, it is as natural as Nature itself. That is the reason of its endurance.

To Build a Power House.

James Nagel & Son, of Allentown, were awarded the contract to erect the new power house opposite the Lower Lehigh station for the Mauch Chunk, Lehigh & Slatington Street Railway Company. The building will be of vetted brick, one story high, and will measure 50 by 110 feet.

Notaries Public.

Commissions making each of the following a notary public arrived at the recorder's office, Allentown, during the week: Phaon B. Oswald, of Lynn; Charles D. Peters, of town, and Irwin P. Dorward, formerly of town but now of Scranton.

Saw His Shadow.

The ground hog saw his shadow Monday. According to the ancient belief there will be six more weeks of cold weather.

Purchased a Quarry.

The Bittner Slate Company purchased the quarry of R. F. Thomas at Slatedale, last Friday.

BODY RECOVERED

As the result of the finding of a hat and two peddler's packs in the canal on Thursday of last week a search was made and on Saturday the body of David Charlie, a young Arabian peddler, was brought to surface a short distance below the water tank. Foul play was suspected but an examination of the body proved that such was not the case. Coroner Schleicher, of Northampton county, was notified and held an inquest, a verdict of accidental death by drowning was rendered. The young man attempted to cross the ice and broke through. He had been in this country but two months and resided at Allentown. He is survived by his mother, two sisters and a brother.

The funeral was held on Monday afternoon. Services were conducted in the Presbyterian church. Interment was made in Fairview cemetery. Rev. Dudley Ferrell officiated. A large number of Arabians of town and Allentown attended. Undertaker Berkemeyer had charge of the funeral arrangements.

DEATH RECORD.

Solomon Dengler, an aged and respected citizen of town died at 3:30 a. m., Monday, of general debility, aged 70 years. Deceased was a photographer and conducted a studio in the Rice building until several years ago when he was compelled to retire owing to ill health. He disposed of his stock to O. M. Stauffer. Deceased is survived by his wife and two daughters, Mrs. Allan Case and Miss Annie. The funeral was held at 10 a. m., Thursday. Services were conducted at his late home. Interment was made in Union cemetery. Rev. J. S. Erb officiated.

There's a Well-Beaten Path.

It leads directly to our door: throngs of buyers traverse it day by day. Shows that we are strengthening the friendly business relations between this store and the public, without which there can be no success. Want you to keep coming—want you to tell your friends and neighbors about this store and the high quality of goods we sell at small profit. We want to serve them as faithfully as we are serving you. Confidence once established, the rest is easy. E. O. WILLIAMS & Co., Lower Main street.

Slaughtered a Porker.

Benjamin Remaly, of Lehigh Furnace, slaughtered a porker on Monday weighing 607 pounds. Mr. Remaly had hired two butchers to do the work. Benj. Walter and Menno Neff. When all the arrangements preparatory to the execution were completed Messrs. Walter and Neff proceeded to drive the pig out of the pen, but here they met with a ferocious resistance. Both butchers became very much excited. Walter, who was armed with a gun, sought refuge behind the pig pen, while Neff crawled into a buck board flourishing a knife. From all appearances it seemed as though the pig had conquered until Paul Remaly, aged 62 years, calmly stepped forward and taught the younger element a lesson in coolness and bravery by placing a rope about the pig and pulling him out of the pen, after which Walter mustered up enough courage and shot him.

The execution was witnessed by Lewis Snyder and John Remaly who were perched on the roof of the pen.

Packed to the Doors.

That is always the case when the James Boys are playing in town. This great melo-drama will be the attraction at the Opera House next Monday evening. This is the Company that has broken box office records all along the line, they carry elaborate scenery. The play has a fine plot, with a vein of humor running through it, which keeps the audience in a constant peal of laughter, the situations are exciting, and there is always 2 and 3 curtain calls. If you want to see the "real thing" secure your seats early. Prices 25, 35 and 50c. Seats at box office.

Sam's Dead Turkey.

A man residing near the Blue Mountain, recently became very anxious to secure a turkey and expressed his willingness to exchange two chickens for same. A Walnport joker heard of the offer and accepted at once, and the exchange was made. When the man from the mountain reached home and opened the box which contained the turkey he found it to be a dead one. Sam's latest stunt.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Lesson in the International Series for February 8, 1903—The Church at Corinth.

THE LESSON TEXT. (Acts 18:1-11.)

1. After these things Paul departed from Athens and came to Corinth; and he found a certain Jew named Aquila, born in Pontus, lately come from Italy, with his wife Priscilla; (because that Claudius had commanded all Jews to depart from Rome); and came unto them.

2. And because he was of the same craft, he abode with them and wrought: for by their occupation they were tent-makers.

3. And he reasoned in the synagogue every Sabbath, and persuaded the Jews and the Greeks.

4. And when Silas and Timotheus were with him, Paul was pressed in the spirit, and testified to the Jews that Jesus was Christ.

5. And when they opposed themselves, and blasphemed, he shook his raiment, and said unto them, Your blood be upon your own heads; I am clean: from henceforth I will go unto the Gentiles.

6. And he departed thence, and entered into a certain man's house, named Titus, one that worshipped God: whose house joined hard to the synagogue.

7. And Crispus, the chief ruler of the synagogue, believed on the Lord with all his house; and many of the Corinthians hearing believed, and were baptized.

8. Then spake the Lord to Paul in the night by a vision, Be not afraid, but speak, and hold not thy peace:

9. For I am with thee, and no man shall set on thee to hurt thee: for I have much people in this city.

10. And he continued there a year and six months, teaching the word of God among them.

11. And many would have joined him, but he would not, because he desired to go to Jerusalem, and to Spain.

12. And he said unto them, I will come again to you, if it shall please the Lord: but I must now go to Jerusalem.

13. And he departed from thence, and sailed unto Ephesus.

14. And he found certain disciples in Ephesus, and said unto them, How long have ye been here? and they said unto him, We have been here about two years.

15. And he said unto them, How came ye hither? and they said unto him, We came hither by sea, and were worshippers of the goddess Diana; whose temple is the more renowned in all Asia.

16. And he said unto them, What sacrifices do ye use? and they said unto him, We use no sacrifices: we only burn incense to the goddess Diana.

17. And he said unto them, What temple is this? and they said unto him, It is the temple of Diana, which we worship, because Diana is the goddess which we adore.

18. And he said unto them, How do ye know that Diana is the goddess which we adore? seeing that ye neither know the temple, nor how the goddess is adored, yet presume to teach others, that they should not worship Diana?

19. And they answered and said unto him, We know not these things: but we worship Diana, because she is the goddess which we adore.

20. And he said unto them, Because ye know not these things, I will speak plainly unto you. Diana is the goddess which we adore, because she is the goddess which we adore.

21. And he said unto them, Because ye know not these things, I will speak plainly unto you. Diana is the goddess which we adore, because she is the goddess which we adore.

22. And he said unto them, Because ye know not these things, I will speak plainly unto you. Diana is the goddess which we adore, because she is the goddess which we adore.

23. And he said unto them, Because ye know not these things, I will speak plainly unto you. Diana is the goddess which we adore, because she is the goddess which we adore.

24. And he said unto them, Because ye know not these things, I will speak plainly unto you. Diana is the goddess which we adore, because she is the goddess which we adore.

25. And he said unto them, Because ye know not these things, I will speak plainly unto you. Diana is the goddess which we adore, because she is the goddess which we adore.

26. And he said unto them, Because ye know not these things, I will speak plainly unto you. Diana is the goddess which we adore, because she is the goddess which we adore.

SCHOOL AND COLLEGE.

Hallfax school board wishes to discontinue teaching infants sewing, on the ground that it causes defective vision.

Rev. Thomas H. Lewis has the rare distinction of being president of two colleges at one time—the Western Maryland and the Adrian, of Adrian, Mich.

Forty of the 240 public school teachers in Washington county, Md., have resigned their positions within a year because of the small salaries that were paid to them.

The six-oared shell in which President Eliot, Alexander Agassiz and the Crowninshield's roved for Harvard has been presented to the university by T. S. Watson. The boat was built in 1857.

In Austria religious instruction is compulsory in all schools. The head teacher must belong to the faith of the majority, and the teaching of religion is under the direction of the religious bodies.

Dr. William F. Warren has resigned from the presidency of Boston university. He has taken this action in the belief that he can better serve the university in his professorship in the theological school, a position which has been retained by him through all his years as president.

WAY STATIONS.

The fastest European railway trains are no longer in England, but in France.

The Prussian government has ordered that the 72-pound rails on all the main state railway lines be replaced by 92-pound rails.

The United States has 200,000 miles of railways, upon which there are 548 employes for each 100 miles. The cost of operating these roads with steam power is $502,000,000 a year; but to carry on the same amount of work with men and horses would cost the country $1,908,500,000.

Railroad riding is altogether too luxurious nowadays, says Galusha A. Grow, the venerable Pennsylvanian who will retire from public life with this congress. The comforts of modern travel are all very well, he admits, but they have robbed him of his medicine. In the old days of crooked lines and jolly cars if he felt that his liver was becoming torpid he jumped the train and rode to New York. The shaking up he received in a few hours' run was sufficient remedy. He still tries the same cure, but maintains that the beneficial results have diminished in ratio corresponding with improvements which have been introduced.

STAMPS AND COLLECTORS.

Germany has comparatively the most stamp collectors and consequently also the most counterfeit manufacturers.

Germany is said to have a great many more philatelists than the United States. Nearly every family seems to have a stamp collection, consequently no stamps have gone to waste in years. Dealers are so thick that in Stuttgart there are a dozen windows given up to the display of stamps.

A great collection of stamps, valued approximately at $50,000, and which was stolen from Consul Weber, of Hamburg, Germany, has been recovered through the work of the police department of Berlin. The collection, it seems, was innocently bought by a London dealer for $1,010, when he was deceived by a man whose pretence proving it to be stolen property, the purchaser offered to return the lot upon being reimbursed with the amount that he paid for the lot. After some litigation the stamps were returned to the owner upon his payment of $1,750 to the dealer.

WHERE THE MIKADO RULES.

The Japanese have decided to use British engines on their state railways.

A splendid funeral procession was proceeding from Hongo, Japan, to bury the remains of Teraji, the head of a gambling den, when the police stopped the ceremony, as the deceased was believed to be an escaped convict. The accusation was found to be true, and the dead man was taken to the prison burial ground.

Japanese ladies smoke and on the railways smoking is permitted in every carriage, for men and women alike smoke almost continually. When a Japanese lady enters a carriage she slips off her little wood-soled shoes, stands upon the seat and then sits down with her feet under her. A moment or two later she produces her tiny pipe—it holds about enough tobacco to produce a couple of whiffs of smoke—and lights up. All Japanese sit with their feet on the seat of the carriage and not as Europeans do.

MILITARY MATTERS.

The average age of the men in the British navy is between 26 and 27 years.

The cost of firing a single shot from a 16-inch gun would pay a private soldier for five years.

French officers of every rank have been forbidden to accept invitations to receptions given in their honor by subordinates.

Gen. Osterhaus, who was a major general of volunteers during the rebellion, now lives in Bonn, Germany, where he is reported to be "well and happy in his eighty-first year." He was very popular with a large number of soldiers who served under him.

The man who links leads the crowd. Men will not be kept from the love of the world by making the world unlovely.

The star of faith will shine long after the comet of fame has disappeared. The preacher's mission is not that of amusing the saints by abusing the sinners.

Happiness depends not on the things the heart has, but on the heart that has the things.

The first thing some people do when troubles fly into their lives is to clip their wings.—Ram's Horn.

CONSECRATION OF THE BODY.

Should Be Kept Wholesome and Agreeable—Fit to Be the Temple of God.

The Christian presents his body to God as a living sacrifice. That, the apostle said, is a spiritual worship. It is not, then, an occasional act, but a constant service. Physical demerit promotes wholesomeness is a tribute to the Father to whom we offer our bodies. Abstinence from stimulants, luxuries, indulgences that would profane them is imperative, if we would not shame ourselves by an unholy offering.

Jesus Christ our Lord had abundant health. He exhorted himself with toil for others. He groaned with pain because of the willful blindness of men to the message He brought them. His frame shook with sobs because of the woes that were coming to His country. His heart broke at last under the burdens of the world's sin, but we have no record that He ever was sick. Disease in others fled at His presence. He came, He said, that men might have life abundantly. That meant vigor of body, as well as of mind and spirit. He rejoiced in giving health. To imitate Him is to take all wise means to make our bodies wholesome and agreeable, fit to present to God as a gift.

The Christian prepares and keeps his body as a temple of the Holy Spirit. "Know ye not that your body is a temple of the Holy Spirit which is in you?" We delight to furnish the room where we entertain our loved and revered guest so that it will give him pleasure. To discover that we had placed there anything offensive to an honorable person would be an unfortunate shame. It must be admitted that we are tempted even thus to dishonor the greatest and holiest. One who makes himself our guest. But self-control to shut away evil and unworthy thoughts from tenantry in a body where the Holy Spirit dwells is the first necessity to manhood. One who laid bare his own weaknesses that he might help his fellowmen to be pure and strong said: "I buffet my body and bring it into bondage." So will we do that we may have fellowship with the Father and with His Son, Jesus Christ. We have knotted by the evident ingathering of the Holy Spirit. We have seen disease made a discipline to bring the heavenly guest into closer companionship. For whatever defects our bodies have, if they are used honorably as a sacrifice, holy, acceptable to God, we have the assurance that the Lord Jesus Christ "shall fashion anew the body of our humiliation, that it may be conformed to the body of His glory."—Boston Congregationalist.

The Mantle of Winter.
 As the frost beads weep from branches that are bare,
 And the music of the sleigh bells breaks the air;
 As the hedgerows with their crystals all are gemmed,
 And the vessels in the harbors all are hemmed;
 As the ice-king cracks his whip across the lakes,
 And the Log upon the hearth his vengeance takes,
 And when no green stem of leaf or flower is found,
 Then has Winter thrown her mantle to the ground.
 —W. F. Dickens-Lewis, in N. Y. Observer.

CHURCH AND CLERGY.

A careful count of church attendance in the borough of Manhattan—that is, in New York city proper—showed an average of 74,000 Protestant adults against 279,000 Catholic adults attending church in the morning on three consecutive Sundays. And yet there are, we suppose, twice as many nominal Protestants as Catholics in that city.

When Bishop Theoburn went to India, 38 years ago, a European gentleman pointed out to him a brick pillar, and said: "You might as well try to make a Christian out of that pillar as out of one of these people." To-day there are in India nearly 3,000,000 native Christians, and among them are doctors, lawyers, judges, editors, teachers and business men.

The annual report from the Harput district in Asia Minor shows that the average attendance of the 30 missionary Sunday schools is nearly 4,300, and of the 41 congregations almost 6,000. The personnel of the station includes 14 pastors, four preachers, two colporteurs, five Bible women, five other helpers and 60 teachers, a total of 90 besides the 36 native teachers in Euphrates college.

In his address on "Christianity and the Nation" at Association hall, Brooklyn, at the Advent missionary mass meeting held there, Bishop Potter expressed the opinion that the nation would not be made more religious by having a recognition of God placed in the constitution of the United States. That was a small matter, said Bishop Potter, when compared with getting a recognition of God in the hearts of the men and women of this country.

BICYCLES AND AUTOMOBILES.

A minute puncture is most easily found by passing a sponge saturated in soapy water round the tire. The escaping air will raise a bubble under the soap suds, and the most difficult part of the repair, "locating the puncture," will have been accomplished.

At a meeting of the Massachusetts Women's Christian Temperance union, the following resolution was adopted: "We would be glad if every church had racks for bicycles or kept free automobiles for church-goers, if thereby the 800,000 men who run our cars seven days in the week might rest."

It is always well to try to get to the bottom of any clicking or creaking noise in a bicycle, even though it be slight. Often the trouble will be of little account, but it should be remembered that impending fractures of the saddle pillar or other parts of the tubing often reveal themselves beforehand in this way, so that attention may avert a nasty accident.

Alfred Harmsworth, London's famous newspaper proprietor, has called upon the Automobile club to appoint a committee of experts to consider the possibility of obviating "side slipping" and to devise means to render it impossible. Mr. Harmsworth has had several narrow escapes from this fault and declares automobilism is far too dangerous unless this fact be remedied.

THE SCIENTIFIC WORLD.

Dr. F. D. Snyder, of Ashtabula, O., owns the largest private starfish collection in America.
Thirty-nine thousand six hundred and three varieties of fungus are known to botanists.
Prof. Wood, of Johns Hopkins, has made a screen which does not admit heat rays and bears all light rays except the ultra-violet. For 30 years scientists have sought such a screen.
A scientist once put an automatic music box on the lawn, and spent many hours watching the robins, blue-tits and other birds gathering about it. A looking-glass put up where the birds can see themselves in it is also very attractive, while a combination of a musical box and a looking-glass pleases the birds more than anything else one could put out for their amusement.
The largest pair of animal tusks ever found in the frozen north have arrived in Seattle from Kenai, Alaska, a mining camp 300 miles northwest of Nome, well within the Arctic circle. The remains of the animal were found by M. F. Moran, the postmaster of Kenai, and will be forwarded to the Smithsonian Institution. The tusks are 12 feet from end to end. One weighs 168 and the other 172 pounds. Both are in an excellent state of preservation, the ivory being perfectly sound and of the quality.
Before the British association, Dr. W. E. Wilson, F. R. S., briefly described a new bolometer of his which would be very valuable for cloud observations. The bolometer is not simple. It consists of two coiled and blackened platinum wires, contained in a tube from which air is exhausted. The tube is driven by a clock-train which runs for a week. The one coil is exposed to the sunlight, the other kept in the shade. The new instrument is reported superior to others of the Callender type, previously employed. The calibration of the instrument is effected with the aid of an electric current which heats one of the bolometer strips.

FASHIONS OF THE HOUR.

Black lace is taking the place of white and cream for day and evening wear.
Violets are taking a new lease of life with spring in the not far distant future.
A style somewhat in favor for evening dresses is the "three-decker," or triple founce skirt.
Walking suits of corduroy made after the manner of summer shirt waist suits will find special favor.
Gauging still continues to be the most popular way of manipulating maniacs, especially those of light weight.
Some of the pale pastel tones will be popular the coming season, the very palest greens, pinks, mauves and blues.
Fashion is very partial to the note of black in neckwear and a touch of it is introduced into many of the prettiest pieces.
The greatest novelty of the hour is the chinchilla chiffon gown. Nothing can surpass the beauty of this material in its soft admixtures of gray and white, having quite the length and color of the fur itself.

IN FOREIGN CAPITALS.

Zurich has its streets paved with paper.
Tuberculosis causes some 12,000 deaths annually in Paris.
Berlin's tramway net requires 2,600 cars and gives employment to 7,703 persons.
Twenty-six pounds was paid the other day in London for a pack of German playing-cards dated 1558.
About 2,000,000 of London's inhabitants get no medical treatment save that of charity dispensaries or hospitals, and it is said one in four of them go to bed hungry every night of their lives.
Four million dollars is the sum annually left in Paris by visiting Americans, according to a writer in the Petit Parisien. Mrs. Charles T. Yerkes is credited with spending $20,000 a year on gowns purchased there, and Mrs. McKay sometimes orders $10,000 or $15,000 worth at a time. Among male customers the best are said to be Morgan, Carnegie, Schwab and Vanderbilt.

THE LAW LAD DOWN.

An infant is held, in O'Rourke vs. John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance company (R. I.), 57 L. R. A. 496, not to be bound in his warranties in a contract for life insurance.
A tenant is held, in Wright vs. Du Bignon (Ga.), 57 L. R. A. 669, to have no right to remove fixtures annexed to the freehold, which are placed on leased land, in the absence of a contract giving him the right to do so.
The fact that a mortgage is given to secure payment of an entire sum which is payable in installments is held, in George vs. Butler (Wash.), 57 L. R. A. 395, not to prevent the running of the statute of limitations against each installment as it becomes due.
Liability for damages to a neighborhood, caused by the explosion of a steam boiler, is held, in Veich vs. Hope Salt & Coal company (W. Va.), 57 L. R. A. 410, not to arise where one places the boiler upon his premises and operates it in a lawful business with care and skill.
The carrying of deadly weapons being an offense fully provided for and punished by state law, it is held, in Judy vs. Lashley (W. Va.), 57 L. R. A. 413, to be beyond the power of a municipal corporation to make it an offense punishable under a city ordinance, unless such power is expressly conveyed by the municipal charter.
A railroad company is held, in Edgington vs. Burlington, C. R. & N. company (Iowa), 57 L. R. A. 561, to be liable to infants of tender years for injuries inflicted by a turn table maintained by it in an unfenced lot so near a public way as to be likely to attract children to play on it, unless it exercises reasonable care to have it safely fastened.
